Specimen Requirements

Blood/saliva/buccal swab sample from patients with a history of allogenic bone marrow or stem cell transplant cannot be used for genetic testing. Blood/saliva/buccal swab sample from patients with active hematological disease is not recommended. An alternative specimen may be needed. See ambrygen.com/specimen-requirements for details.

Fetal specimens, cord blood and POC will have maternal cell contamination studies added for a charge. Maternal and fetal specimen required. Please see page 4 for Maternal Cell Contamination sample submission test codes. Fetal specimens, cord blood, and POC are not accepted sample types for GenomeNext™.

Known variant analysis should be accompanied by a copy of the original testing report or internal Ambry testing information (internal Ambry ID, Name/DOB). Please review information about positive controls and other specifics at ambrygen.com/knownvariantanalysis.

Previously Reported Variants

ExomeNext® or GenomeNext™ report comments about the presence or absence of a variant previously reported in the patient require the "Previously Reported Variant" section of this form to be completed accurately, including an internal Ambry reference ID and/or a copy of the positive family member's lab report. Acceptable types of Ambry identifiers include:

- Accession number
- Order number
- Name and date of birth

Previously reported variant requests without an internal Ambry reference ID or positive lab report will not receive a variant-specific report comment.

Variant-specific report comments about the presence or absence of a variant previously reported in a family member are not included in ExomeNext®, GenomeNext™, or Neurology panel reports.

Reflex or Concurrent Testing

Concurrent testing is when multiple tests are initiated at the same time. When multiple tests are ordered on the same test requisition form, testing will be run concurrently unless otherwise specified.

Reflex testing is when a subsequent test is initiated pending the outcome of the initial test. Reflex testing may result in delayed reporting of results.

For reflex test orders:

- Any diagnostic finding at any step will result in cancellation of any subsequent reflex tests.
- Non-diagnostic findings (including VUS or Uncertain results) will automatically reflex to the subsequent test.
- Secondary findings results do not impact whether a subsequent test is initiated or canceled.
